doctrine was, in part, what Forney & Co. agreed to pay to the iron masters for their aid in giving them revenge on the National Administration, the majority of the Democracy of Congress, and the South. Nevertheless, we doubt whether their dicker in principles will avail either party to it next winter, for it was sufficiently flagrant to insure its own punishment in the defeat of whatever change in the existing tariff they may propose for the benefit of the pockets of the iron masters. The Senate, if not the House, will surely repudiate their scheme; and, when that shall have been done, the political rogues making it will as surely fall out again.— Washington Star.

HAVE A HOME.—Young men have lately written to us, asking: "Shall we marry possessing only small means?"

If the means are adequate to meet the wants of the man and the fuiure wife, why not? But they should be sufficient for this, else the most painful consequences may ensue. Moderate means are ample for the real necessaries of life, too, which ought to satisfy human beings, as far as ex-ternals are concerned; insuring social and domestic enjoyment; meeting the real purpose of existence—their own advancement and that of others. But have enough for this. Have a home. Have a home, young man, before you have a wife. At least have means to provide one.— You have no business with an Eve till there is a paradise to place her in. Secure the garden, and the Eve will follow. If you are unable to provide an Edon, who ought to trust you with an Eve? Sacred as we regard love, we do not believe in divorcing it from common scuse. This experiment is generally fatal to both happiness and respec-tability. Wake from mere dream life, exert your energies, procure means by some kind of honest labor, secure a lome, then ask your own heart, and the girl phrenologically best adapted to you, the question a "Shall I marry?"—Life Illustrated.

BLUE RIDGE RAILROAD .- The South ern Citizen says:

On Wednesday morning, the 20th instant, the Supreme Court decided the long contested case, involving the question of the legality of the subscription of Blount County to the capital stock of the Knoxville and Charleston Railroad Company. The decision of the Chancellor, Van Dyke, declaring the subscription legal and obligatory upon the county, was affirmed.— This intelligence will be gratifying, not only to the friends of the enterprise in this State, but also in South Carolina.

"Nor of the Dead, But of the Liv-180."—That was a beautiful idea express-ed by a Christian lady on her death bed, in reply to a remark of her brother who was taking leave of her to return to his distant residence, that he should probably never again meet her in the land of the living. She answered: "Brother, I trust we shall meet in the land of the living. We are new in the land of the dying."

UNFORTUNATE.-It is stated that the Honorable Sherard Clemens, of Virginia, seriously injured his wounded limb, a few days since, by suddenly turning in bed. when under the influence of anodyne.

The New York correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer says Washington Irving lies seriously ill as his residence near Tarrytown.

In the New York correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer says Washington Irving note and security bearing interest from day of sale; and sums of $5 and under to be paid in each before delivery of property.

instant, after an illness of five days, Ella Jane, youngest child of W. E. and E. C. Holcombe, aged two years and one menth.

The subject of this notice had just reached that period of her age at which children are most interesting, not only to their 'arents and immediate family, but is their relations and oriends' generally. Little Jane, (as she was cealed) was an extraordinary child, I knew her well, she filled a large space in the family circle. Her death has created a vacuum, which will be long and deeply felt. She was the idea of a doting mother, a devoted father, a loving sister and effectionate brothers. But little Janes is no more! Her little form has been laid in the cold, cold Grave, and her spirit has govern to that God who gave it. Those bright and sperkling eyes, which so often sent a thrill of joy to a mothers heart are new dimmed and closed in death. That swart, peculiar voice which fell in such delightful access on a fathers ear, has been sile do no carth, and so attuned as to accord with the harps of Asgels in Heaven, I knew it was hard to give her up—that the Messengure of death was an unwelcome guess, but remember the grave cannot keep her. While you, her father and methers, sister and brothers are sheding hitter tears, over her departure, she is singing praises to the Lambelless was Shin. you, her father and mether, sister and brothers are sheding hifter tears, over her departure, she is singing praises to the Lamb that was shift, and bath redeemed her to find by his blood.—Think of her then not as a prisoner of the Tomb, but as a redeemed saint in Glory, such a thought will afford joy and not grief, and will enable you to say the Jord giveth and the Lord hath taken away, blossed he the name of the Lord.

A PPLICATION will be made to the Legisla-A ture of South Carolina, at its next session, for an set to incorporate the town of Pickensville, with the usual power and privileges.
